

Schricker Guest When City To Buy 40 Golden Book Pages At Banquet, May 25

Forty Golden Book pages, at a total cost of $4,000, will be presented to Rabbi Israel Goldstein of New York, president of the Jewish National Fund of America, when he will be guest of honor at the Indianapolis celebration of the fortieth anniversary of the J.N.F. at a banquet Monday evening, May 25 at the Lincoln Hotel.

At the same time announcement was made that Gov. Henry F. Schricker, who is a member of the American Palestine Committee, will be honored with a Golden Book page inscription at the banquet. Gov. and Mrs. Schricker, both plan to attend the affair.

The J.N.F. is the agency which buys land in Palestine in the name of the Jewish people.

General chairman of the banquet will be Mrs. Henry Blatt, and Daniel Frisch, a member of the national executive of the Z.O.A. and a personal friend of Rabbi Goldstein, will be toastmaster. The dinner will be strictly kosher, and will be supervised by a committee of rabbis.

On the committee of arrangements for the affair are Mrs. A. Kulwin, Mrs. L. L. Goldstein, Mrs. Lewis Levy, Rabbi Elias Charry, Rabbi David Shapiro, Rabbi Samuel S. Fox, Mrs. Davis Harris, Isadore Lovinger, Alfred Dobrowitz, Mrs. Manuel Levy, Mrs. Sam Block, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Talesnick, Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Sablosky, and Shulamith Rabb.

Music for the affair will be provided by Cantor Glass with Mrs. Stanley Levinson and Mrs. L. Rapoport assisting. Joseph Lewis will be at the organ.

In announcing that there would be no solicitation of funds, Mrs. David Herman, chairman of publicity, declared that the Golden Book certificates will buy more land to insure the perpetual rights of the Jewish people to cultivate land and to live in Palestine in peace and harmony. The land can never be sold, Mr. Herman pointed out, and remains the property of the Jewish National Fund.

NATIONAL JEWISH GROUPS UNITE TO FIGHT DISCRIMINATION IN WAR INDUSTRIES

By Jewish Telegraphic Agency
NEW YORK—Intensified efforts by Jewish groups to combat employment discrimination in war industries were initiated here this week by the Jewish Occupational Council following a meeting of its Coordinating Committee of Jewish Organizations Dealing with Employment Discrimination in War Industries.

Meanwhile a statement is in preparation, which will set forth the procedures to be followed by any local Jewish group having a complaint of discrimination in employment against any employer holding war contracts. This statement likewise will include suggestions regarding the investigation and preparation of complaints, the reporting of such complaints to appropriate governmental agencies, and other matters relating to cooperation in the government's program to eliminate discriminatory religious and racial employment practices in war industries.

Protest Made As Pelley Drives on With Attacks

Special
NEW YORK—The Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League today protested to the Department of Justice and the Post Office Department against the continued activity of William Dudley Pelley, out on bail under Federal charges of sedition, following the receipt of his latest publication.

"How Earthly Activities Are Guided by the Celestial Council" is the title of the second of the "weekly studies in soulcraft" emitted by the former publisher of the suspended "Galilean."

A considerable part of this leaflet is devoted to a kind of hypothetical case, in which Pelley discusses in mystical terms the possible reactions of law enforcement agencies over the country in event that "a great public man may be assassinated in Washington, D. C." The choice of such a "case" is not without its own significance, in view of Pelley's previous habit of identifying Administrative leaders with "Evil."

Pelley indirectly praises the recent article in the Saturday Evening Post by Milton Mayer, called "The Case Against the Jews."

"A week ago Saturday night, in Detroit," he writes, "a Jewish rabbi materialized himself to a group containing four of his fellow racials and announced to them in no uncertain terms what was to happen in the months ahead. Every word of what he said confirmed a prophetic article appearing in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post in which a Jewish author by the name of Mayer indicated his own racials to the effect that sooner or later the American Gentiles were going to place the blame for the Republic's present war squarely on the shoulders of the Israelites and that the reactions might be easily unthinkable. Read the article for yourselves! . . ."

McMahon to Head Full Program For Rally Sunday

Preparations for one of the largest patriotic meetings in the history of Indianapolis were completed this week, as expectations of a capacity crowd to hear the principal speaker, Prof. Francis E. McMahon, of Notre Dame University were voiced by Louis J. Borinstein and Mrs. Henry Blatt, co-chairmen of the affair. The rally has been set for 8 p. m. this Sunday, May 17, in the large auditorium of Kirshbaum Center.

The program will be opened with the posting of the colors by the Indianapolis Post 114 of the Jewish War Veterans of America, followed by the invoca-

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

ACTION OF J. W. V. IN BOYCOTT OF NAZIS IN 1933 STATED

To the Editor:

In your issue of April 24, appeared an editorial entitled "Let us Fight." The third paragraph reads:

"The American Jewish Congress called for a boycott after Hitler's rise to power. They called for it publicly and they paraded for it before everyone. Other organizations, after quaking in their shoes, called for a boycott years later."

Since that statement is not correct, I am sure you will be interested in the facts.

On Sunday, March 19, 1933, several Jewish organizations, of which the American Jewish Congress was one, had a meeting at the Astor Hotel to discuss the protest against Hitler's atrocities. The writer, who was then the National Commander of the Jewish War Veterans of the United States and in the room, was called to the platform to second a resolution presented for a monster mass meeting to be held at a future date in Madison Square Garden. In my remarks, I refused to second the resolution because the date was indefinite, and further because I felt a mass meeting would be ineffective and declared that the only effective weapon was the economic boycott. My suggestion threw the assemblage in an uproar. It was so popular that Rabbi Wise, Dr. Margoshes, the chairman, and others were not permitted to continue for more than an hour, and then only when a committee was sent out to consider my suggestions. Suffice to say, my suggestion was not accepted.

The following day, March 20, 1933, I called an emergency session of the Executive Committee of the Jewish War Veterans, and formally declared that we would prosecute a boycott of all Nazi goods and services. This was widely published throughout the world on March 21. On March 23, 1933, the Jewish War Veterans staged a monster protest parade through the streets of New York City, marking the opening of our campaign for the boycott. The New York Daily News carried about 8 pages of photos and news on the parade, and it was front page news of every New York newspaper and many others throughout the world.

If you would care to look through newspaper files for the following month or two, you may find that the leading papers carried volumes of publicity on the boycott. At that time the Jewish War Veterans were the ONLY organization prosecuting an organized boycott. The impetus of our campaign at that time carried the movement almost to the present time.

We invited every other Jewish organization to participate in the movement and to cooperate in it with us. They not only refused but we were generally severely criticized for our action. I recall receiving a letter from Rabbi Stephen Wise in May, 1933, informing me that he did not think it proper to conduct the boycott.

The early part of May, we were approached by a group, which later became the Non-Sectarian Anti-Nazi League, who were interested in the boycott movement and asked for our assistance. This was gladly given and on May 10, 1933, they held their first meeting, when Hon. Samuel Untermyer came into the picture.

On July 5, 1933, I sailed for London together with Mr. Untermyer and the late Abraham Coralnick, to represent the United States in a movement to make the boycott movement worldwide. Messrs. Untermyer and Coralnick represented the Anti-Nazi League, the writer the Jewish War Veterans, being the only two organizations then prosecuting the boycott in the United States.

As you may recall, a conference of 14 or 15 nations met in Amsterdam on July 20, and the World Economic Conference was organized to further the boycott. Mr. Untermyer was elected President, and I was elected vice-president for the United States.

It was NOT until August, 1933, about two weeks after this world conference, that Rabbi Stephen Wise, then in Paris, announced that the American Jewish Congress was for the boycott. By that time the boycott was a well organized world-wide movement.

Since these facts and dates can easily be checked, I am sure you will print a correction just "to keep the record straight."

Sincerely yours,
J. GEORGE FREDMAN,
National Editor "The Jewish Veteran."

Editors Note: The Post should not have overlooked the Jewish War Vets in the editorial in question, which discussing the question of morale, pointed out the difference between fighting prejudice in the open as against the negotiation method. The Jewish War Vets, an organization which at one time was vigorously opposed by most Jewish leaders,

Chicago Parents Send $10. To Kirshbaum After Visit

The Army and Navy Committee of the Jewish Community Center Association announced receipt of a gift of $10 from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Miller of Chicago, Ill., the parents of Seaman Harold Miller, stationed at the Third Naval Armory.

Mr. and Mrs. Miller came to Indianapolis Sunday to spend Mother's Day with their son. Most of the day was spent at Kirshbaum Center where Harold made many friends among the staff, the cadettes and hostesses, and other service men. The Millers were invited to stay for the regular Sunday night supper with their son and the other soldiers and sailors, and they expressed great pleasure at the program provided by the Jewish Community of Indianapolis.

Sponsors for the Sunday night supper for Service men at Kirshbaum Center this Sunday, May 17 will be: Mesdames Bernard D. Rosenak, Harold Goodman, Robert Efroymson, Simon Ackerman, Arthur Cassell, Theodore R. Dann, Julian Bamberger, and Herbert Falender. Some members of the group will act as hostesses on Sunday evening and an informal program including square dancing has been planned.

WANTS LETTERS FROM OLD-TIME FRIENDS IN THE SERVICE

To the editor,

As a long-time receiver of so gracious a gift as the Jewish Post may I thank you at this time for the inconvenience that I have caused you because of my constantly changing address. I am always on the "alert" and never lack for an uplift in morale when I receive The Post. As you can note by my new address I am now in the Medical Detachment of the 138 F. A. Battalion and am still in the Hawaiian Islands, although having a new forwarding address than here-to-fore.

In regards to P. F. C. Abe S. Stein's suggestion in The Jewish Post of April 17, I am in full accord with Abe's idea. I am somewhat at a loss myself as just where all my friends and acquaintances are in the service, and would be very proud and honored if all my old-time friends and acquaintances would drop me a line as often as possible. I'll guarantee a quick return. Incoming letters are not censored so ask any kind of questions within reason and anything in question in regards to these islands I shall be glad to answer to the best of my ability.

are invited to send in contributions, as are the boys in the service themselves. The Post is sent free to any member of the United States forces anywhere provided they write in for the paper themselves.

I know quite well what receiving the Jewish Post means to all the "Home Town Boys" in the service and speaking for myself I am sure I am expressing the sentiments of all the boys receiving the weekly issue of the Jewish Post. May you have a continued success in the future editions and life of The Jewish Post.

As part of a plan to secure a complete list of all the local Jewish men in the armed services, The Post herewith prints the most complete list available, made up from the files of the Army and Navy committee of the Jewish Community Center Association and The Jewish Post. The list will be printed from time to time, with additions to be made as the information is sent in to Kirshbaum Center by relatives and friends of those not now listed.

Accompanying the list is a blank calling for the required information. Those names after which stars are printed indicate that the information at Kirshbaum Center is not complete, and it is hoped that cards for these names will be sent in also.

This information is for the permanent records of the Jewish Welfare Board.

For cities outside of Indianapolis, readers are asked to send the information directly to The Jewish Post, Indianapolis, Ind., for referral to the local Army and Navy Committees of the J. W. B.

IZSAK PROMOTED TO No. 1 SPOT

Sidney Izsak of Indianapolis was promoted to Number 1 man on the tennis team during the I. U. varsity's recent trip through Indiana and Michigan. Izsak, a member of Pi Lambda Phi, was defeated by Dan Canale of Notre Dame 8-6, 4-6, 6-2. Canale is ranked about twenty-fifth in the National Lawn Tennis Association's ratings.

OUR CHILDREN SAID IT

On election day last Tuesday, Teddy Shonfield, 7-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shonfield of Muncie, Ind., and grandson of Mrs. Max Salon, Fort Wayne, pleaded with his mother and dad to let him cast his vote at the polls. When his father explained that a person who is permitted to vote in the U. S. must be 21 years of age and over, Teddy answered: "Well, Daddy, you can tell them I am 21 but that I was born a midget."

(Note: $1.00 is paid for contributions under this headings.)

ELECTED TO HEAD HEBREW UNION STUDENT BODY

Leo J. Stillpass, son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris Stillpass, of Fort Wayne, has been elected president of the student body of the Hebrew Union College at Cincinnati, O., where he is a student for the rabbinate. Stillpass is a graduate of North Side High School and the University of Cincinnati.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT

The arrival of green grass on the campus at Purdue was accompanied by that familiar growth on the upper lips of the new seniors. "Muggsy" Glazer was especially proud of his mustache until his father playfully grabbed him by the ear and accidentally removed it.

The editor's chair,

About a year ago I wrote on a conversation I had with one of the younger Jewish attorneys in the community in which he could see only one logical solution to the Jewish problem—complete assimilation. He was a liberal, as most of the assimilationists believe they are, and he was arguing not so much from his personal viewpoint, but, as he thought, from an objective stand. There wouldn't be anything to write about at this time in connection with this lawyer, except that he now happens to be one of the most active members of one of our larger Jewish organizations.

And therein is my moral.

Unquestionably none of the factors that led this man to his assimilationist attitude have changed to any great extent in just one year. The same thoughts he expressed then would seem just as logical and orderly today as on that occasion a full year ago. What then has happened?

My idea is this. During that year he was given a position in the organization which required some work. He did that job and was given one entailing even more time and effort. And now I can tell you that he puts in as much time as any one other man in the organization. Before he was on the outside looking in, now he is IN, and he doesn't have time for the doubts and questioning that used to press into his consciousness.

A further deduction is that herein is one good that Jewish organizations perform almost by accident.

Almost any Jewish leader, if you can get him to take his hair down, will tell you that Jewish communities all over are top-heavy with organizations. Whereas our main allegiance should be to the synagogue, it now is attached to organizations, and unfortunate as this is, it is true. Our religion is our B'nai B'rith, or our Zionist District, or our Council of Jewish Women, etc. Yet the real question is that, were these organizations never to have sprung up, would the synagogue have secured these individuals as members? Or, from the other way around, does the fact that there are these multitudes of organizations not actually help the synagogue by instilling a Jewish loyalty in these individuals, many of whom might have been lost to Judaism entirely.

Talk about workers I shouldn't overlook Mrs. David Lurvey. She's (Cont. in last column)

SHOVUOS

THE FEAST OF WEEKS

Notice prepared by The Tract Commission of the Central Conference of American Rabbis and Union of American Hebrew Congregations, Cincinnati, Ohio

IN A DAY of doubt and confusion, of the loss of faith, and the denial of virtues and ideals, the Jewish Festival of Shovuos, or the Feast of Weeks, which Jews will celebrate on May 22, will be especially significant. It commemorates the rededication of the Jewish people to their faith and their religious ideals.

Originating as a festival marking the end of the grain harvest, it developed after the fall of the Temple, in the year 70 of the Common Era, into a commemoration of the Giving of the Law. The Book of Exodus records the giving of the Tablets of the Law to Moses on Mount Sinai as occurring early in the Hebrew month of Sivan. The Festival of Shovuos falls on the sixth day of the month of Sivan, which approximates late May or early June.

Shovuos is called the "Feast of Weeks" because it falls seven weeks (a week of weeks) after Passover which marked the beginning of the harvest season.

Reform Jews celebrate the festival for one day; Conservative and Orthodox Jews celebrate it for two days.

In the 19th Century, Reform Jews introduced the ceremony of Confirmation into the Shovuos Service. This ceremony, now also followed in many Conservative synagogues, is a formal confirmation of both boys and girls in their faith. It is symbolic of the giving and of the acceptance of the Law.

The Book of Ruth with its story of Ruth's acceptance of the Jewish faith is read in the synagogue service on the festival.

Greenery and fresh flowers are used to decorate the home and synagogue as a reminder of the original agricultural character of the holiday.

MRS. GERALD BAKER NAMED Special

GARY—At the regular meeting of the Junior Sisterhood of Temple Beth El, Monday, Mrs. Gerald Baker was elected president, Mrs. Harold M. Weinstein, vice-president; Mrs. Jack Gelfman, cor. secretary; Mrs. Frank Sparber, financial secretary; Mrs. C. S. Leerman, treasurer; Mrs. M. Ross, Happy Day chairman. Mrs. Schatz will be hostess at the next meeting May 25.

been a frequent visitor to the office, and whereas other presidents let their publicity chairman write out (too often in longhand and in pencil) what news they want and then get it to us in the last minute on Wednesday, Mrs. Lurvey comes in and tells me what her Federation of Jewish Women's Clubs is doing and what she would like to have in the way of publicity, if she can get it. As a result I probably know more about what her group is doing and can handle the publicity for them more intelligently. Good idea, don't you think, Mr. and Mrs. newly-elected president?

A Very Practical Meeting

THE mass rally Sunday, sponsored by B'nai B'rith, marking "I am an American Day" at Kirshbaum Center comes under the heading of things of the spirit and normally to a utilitarian-minded community could be expected to arouse little enthusiasm.

But these are not normal times, and the rally Sunday has a significance which is translated so very easily into that which is practical and vital.

"I am an American" would sound like the wind sighing as the gates of heaven opened, to many peoples throughout the world today. It should not take a deprivation of the things which the phrase encompasses to make it necessary for Americans of Jewish birth to realize what it means.

The meeting Sunday should call for a turnout of every person in the Jewish community. The program is excellent, and Dr. Francis E. McMahon's appearance is in itself enough of a drawing card to warrant a crowded auditorium.

A Complete List of Indiana Jewish Soldiers and Sailors

ELSEWHERE in this issue The Post is experimenting with a plan to secure an accurate listing of all Indiana Jewish boys in the service of the armed forces of the United States. All methods heretofore tried have proven inadequate, and although the Jewish Welfare Board is seeking to secure a complete listing, there are many unreported names.

Under the new plan, The Post will print perhaps once a month, or more often if necessary, the complete list as of that time. Friends and relatives of the soldiers and sailors who are not listed, in that way, will know that no information has been turned in, and will understand that they should contact Kirshbaum Center or The Jewish Post for that purpose.

In the case of cities outside of Indianapolis, the listing will be kept in the office of The Post.

The plan is simple, and with just a small amount of cooperation should provide a complete listing of all Indiana Jewish boys fighting with Uncle Sam.

The Annual "Summer" Editorial

THIS is the time for the annual "summer" editorial. Organizations discontinue activities for the hot months, congregational activities slow down, many rabbis and leaders go away on vacation, and life in the Jewish community gets along as best it can without the masterminding of its leaders and the thousands of printed and spoken words.

Now if only the editor could find it possible to agree that his spouting was wasted on the summer air (or any air), there might be real peace and tranquility in the community.

Current Comment

Meeting of Rabbis Opposing Zionism Should Be Called Off, The Jewish Exponent of Philadelphia Says.—The call issued by twenty-three Rabbis, under the leadership of Rabbi Louis Wolsey of this city, for a conference to oppose the Zionist program caused deep grief to many Zionists and non-Zionists alike. The division of opinion among reform leaders on the question of Zionism is of long duration although the tendency in recent years has been for many of them to view with greater sympathy and deeper understanding the underlying ideas of the national movement and some of them have become outstanding leaders in it. Still, those who prefer to continue their adherence to the obsolete views of a former generation are entitled to our respect and we have no quarrel with them. The distressing spectacle in this move on the part of the dissenters is the publicity that they chose to give to the matter at his time when the great bulk of our people is engaged in effecting a project which is a pivotal point in all our hopes for the future.

Times have changed since 1896 when some Rabbis of Germany and Austria came out violently against the Herzl project. Since then, Palestine has become the home of a million Jews, whose presence there has received the sanction and approval of the leading democracies of the world. An extensive Hebrew culture came to fruition there which is destined to become a source of inspiration and guidance to the whole of Jewry. In recent years, the land has served as the chief place of refuge to the millions of persecuted and harassed of our brethren in different lands. These are facts and not theories. This is what Zionism has achieved in spite of differences of opinion in its own circles and in spite of the many impediments that outside conditions have brought about. To undertake at this time a movement with the avowed intention of impeding and hampering this work is almost wicked, to say nothing of the ineffectiveness of such a step which is contrary to the wishes and the hopes of the great masses of the Jewish people.

If not for the prominence of some of the leaders in this movement, the matter would hardly be deserving of any notice. It is heart-breaking to see men who are leaders in their spheres and who are genuinely concerned with the welfare of their people, as evidenced by their activities in other fields of Jewish endeavor, allow themselves to become misled by momentary passion to the point of causing a breach in their own organization and of emphasizing the disunity in Jewish circles in these critical days. We still hope that their better judgment will prevail and that the meeting called for June 1 will be cancelled. It can serve no good purpose, not even the purpose which they have in mind, and will only cause greater bitterness and dissension in our ranks, which must not be allowed when all forces are so terribly needed to combat the common enemies from without.

KILLED IN ACTION

LIEUTENANT HENRY (HANK) MARK, of Los Angeles, has been posthumously awarded the Distinguished Service Cross for valor in the Philippines. Mark was killed in the Philippines on Dec. 24, 1941, while leading an attack against a Japanese flank. Captain John Wheeler, his immediate superior, reports that Mark heroically "led one attack, forcing the Japs to draw back a little. Then he himself went across an open rice field, with Japs pouring fire on him. Mark carried some grenades. He was going to try to throw them into the tanks. But a Jap machine gun, hidden in a tree, got him before he was 20 yards away."

Lt. Mark's father, Abraham Mark, had served some 40 years ago in the Philippines, covering the same ground during the Aguinaldo Rebellion. Later he returned to the States and settled in California. He served as Commissioner of Health in Los Angeles, and is an active realtor there today. Several weeks before Manila's fall, he received a wire from Lt. Mark reading: "Having wonderful time—wish you were here. Please don't worry. I feel swell."

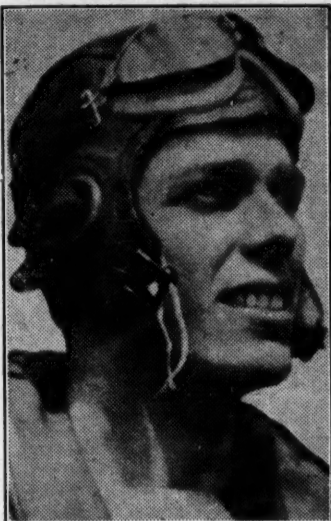

His reaction to a subsequent message, informing him that his son had been killed in action, was to offer his services to the U. S. Army.

Mr. Mark has three other sons, Leonard, 23, with a tank battalion at Fort Ord, Calif.; Richard, 20, who will graduate from the University of California as a reserve officer, and Marvin, 27 an army volunteer.

PRIVATE NATHAN STRAUSS, St. Louis, killed in action on Corregidor Island. He was the gunner in a Corregidor anti-aircraft unit. Strauss enlisted in the army in December, 1940.

ENSIGN HERBERT LEVITT, Bronx, N. Y., has been "missing at sea" since the cruiser USS Houston was sunk in the Battle of Java nearly two months ago, according to official notice from the Navy Department. His mother, Mrs. Philip Levitt, still retains a hope that he is alive. The Navy Department notice states that some members of the Houston's crew may have reached Java or Sumatra. "Something tells me my boy has survived, I have not given up hope," Mrs. Levitt said. Levitt last saw his mother at home in March, 1941, before leaving for active duty in the Philippines. He was a student at New York University until he left school in 1939 to take a naval training course.

ENSIGN IRA JEFFREY, killed in action at Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, was the first casualty of the war from Minneapolis, Minn. He has been cited posthumously for valor by the Secretary of the Navy. During the attack on the Pearl Harbor fleet, Jeffrey attempted, by hand, to maintain an ammunition supply to the anti-aircraft guns on the USS California. Jeffrey enlisted in the navy in August, 1940.

The citation, signed by Navy Secretary Knox, reads: "For distinguished devotion to duty and extraordinary courage and disregard for his own safety during the attack on the Fleet in Pearl Harbor, Territory of Hawaii, by Japanese forces on December 7, 1941, in organizing a party and attempting by hand, to maintain an ammunition supply to the anti-aircraft guns of the USS California. For your praiseworthy conduct on this occasion, you are hereby commended."

A new B'nai B'rith lodge in Minneapolis has been named in memory of Ensign Jeffrey.

DISTINGUISHED SERVICE

CORPORAL MEYER LEVIN, Brooklyn, N. Y., bombardier of the plane which, piloted by Captain Colin Kelly, sank the Japanese battleship Haruna in the Pacific, has received the Distinguished Service Cross. He was recommended for this award last December, along with the other members of a crew which successfully piloted a group of four-engined bombing planes from Honolulu to the Philippines last year. This formation flight, according to the authoritative Army and Navy Journal, "ranks as one of the greatest in aviation his-

AL SEGAL Speaks On

Lo! A Zilch

THIS is the month our theological seminaries project many new young rabbis into the world. Baccalaureate sermons by seasoned old rabbis will commend them into the Most High and they will go forth to the mercies of congregations.

I think, though, they would rather hear from one of the dues-paying members. For, after all, members are the ultimate consumers of rabbis, you might say, and some of the consumers leave a rabbi scarcely with more than his bones when they are through with him.

(I hear it reported that in some congregations rabbis are handled like burnt offerings unto the Lord.)

I am one of the reasonable members and, perhaps, young rabbis will esteem it a rare treat to hear a baccalaureate address from one of the more reasonable people who occasionally sit in the pews. Yes: Baccalaureate Address by Alfred Segal. So the Hebrew Union College program read. Mr. Segal ascends to the high place on the altar, trembling.

Mr. Segal is not puffed up by vain-glory as he takes up the manuscript of his address. He is a humble man yet courageous withal, and after the early tremors of doubt he takes hold of himself. He is sustained by an awareness of the unique nature of the occasion: For the first time a synagogue member has been allowed to speak to new young rabbis at the moment of their ordination. He is one of the people they will have to do with in all their days of come, and he must speak up.

"Yes, my friends, I am Zilch, you might say. Zilch, the Average Member. Zilch who pays his dues regularly. Zilch who isn't very happy about his religious life. He keeps on paying his dues as a matter of old custom. He doesn't pay his dues to the synagogue with the same dutiful devotion with which he pays his insurance premiums.

"Not that he is ever churlish about paying his synagogue dues. He feels that it's one of those things that have to be done. What will people say if he, Zilch, doesn't belong?

"That's Zilch and that's me."

Having introduced himself, Mr. Segal wades with both feet into the chilly waters on which new rabbis are launched.

In short, gentlemen, I do not feel sure that I am getting much out of the synagogue. You will at once tell me that a man gets as much out of a synagogue as he brings to it; but I do bring a willing heart to it, though I confess my

PALESTINE TRAGEDY OF APPEASEMENT, SIR NORMAN ANGELL DECLARES

Special

NEW YORK—In a speech before the National Donor Luncheon of the Women's Division of the American Jewish Congress here, Sir Norman Angell, English Nobel Prize winner, minced no words in castigating Britain for its failure to deal justly with the Jews of Palestine. The speech, in part, follows:

"No Englishman can stand before a Jewish audience without a sense of apology for the errors of British policy in Palestine. But about those errors, an Englishman is also entitled to say this: that Englishmen—including in the past an Englishman named Churchill—themselves have been among the severest critics of those errors; and that the British people themselves have suffered together with the Jews for past errors of British policy.

"The failure of Britain in Palestine is indeed part of a larger failure—the failure of all the nations of Christendom, not merely of Britain, to fulfill obligations which go with the enjoyment of certain rights; the failure in other words to recognize that if we will not actively defend the rights of others, then we shall ultimately drift into a position in which our own rights become indefensible. In other words, the tragedy of Palestine is part of the general tragedy of appeasement, of the belief that it is better to come to a bargain with terrorists, with an evil and violent minority than it is to help defend their victims. Certain British governments and officials in the past have thought it better to attempt to appease Arabs

"It is not true that the cause of right is easily defended, and often it cannot be defended at all unless we defend it together. If an evil minority, like the Nazi party, dictates to a vast majority many times its size, it is simply because that majority is divided, refuses to defend itself as a single indivisible body. Twenty nations are under the heel tonight because each declared itself indifferent to the rights of others. When the first of the twenty was attacked, the remaining nineteen declared that the attack was no affair of theirs; when the second was attacked, the remaining eighteen said the same thing. Thus they could all be picked off one by one. If each had said the exact reverse of what each did say, if each had said that an attack upon the vital rights of any one was an attack upon the vital rights of all, and that ALL would defend that right, BECAUSE IT WAS RIGHT, if each had said that, then the Nazi would have been impotent to enslave them, and all of them would have been defended.

"That is what I have meant when I have said, I suppose a score of times, that when Christendom is prepared to defend the rights of the Jew, then, and not before it will have given proof that it is in a condition to defend its own rights, as it has to defend them today against an enemy as much intent upon the destruction of Christianity as it is intent upon the destruction of Judaism.

"We are confronted here with a perfectly simple moral law, the recognition of which is the price of our freedom. Why is it that the most obvious, most ancient, the most unchallengeable of all social truths, the truth that if we will not defend the rights of others when they are the victims of evil violence then we must ourselves become the victim of that violence—why is this truth, so plain, so hackneyed, so repeatedly vindicated by the event, rejected by men, generation after generation, age upon age. Why did we in England have to learn so bitterly and so late the old truth? Away back in 1931, we saw the homes of China going up in smoke—but the fate of a lot of Chinamen was no affair of ours, we said. Ten years later our homes too were burning and the children perishing, and we saw then, too late, that if we had taken action in time to defend the Chinese, that action would have defended our own homes. We see it now. We give late the help to the Chinese we refused early. We now know that if the Chinese can resist tyranny on the other side of the world—keep the Japanese busy so that Russian forces need not be diverted from the battle against Hitler—then Coventry and Plymouth can sleep more soundly—are safe because the Chinese fight well on the other side of the world. We know now that the war against evil violence is one war the world over. Why did we not know it in time? Why do we refuse to see that we must defend the rights of others if we are to have those rights ourselves?"

mind sometimes wanders far from the pew. It runs off to far-away places, such as the place by the river where the Glory of God is manifest at sunset.

"Wouldn't you," my rebellious mind inquires, "be closer to God beside the majesty of the river than here at this wailing wall. It is a wailing wall, isn't it? Over there by the river's side, it's divinity."

"Ah, gentlemen, I slap my mind sharply down for this heresy and yet I must agree there's considerable truth in it. It's true enough that the synagogue too often is a wailing wall, for the lamentation of the rabbi on the pains of Israel.

"I have a wailing wall of my own where my friends and I gather to mortify ourselves. We meet for poker or for rummy but pretty soon we are at the wailing wall crying against the fate of Israel and wondering if it will ever be good for us.

"Yes, that's wailing wall enough and why should I go on my holidays to the wailing wall of the synagogue to hear the rabbi give out death moans for all Israel.

"Is there nothing but this death for me, the Jew? Is the rabbi just my undertaker? Is there anything to live for? I had better get out of this if those ululations are my only religious expression.

"What does this moaning-in-the dark religion gives me? I run away from it into the sunlight. There is a sun-bathed garden I know almost around the corner from the synagogue. The tulips have been growing there so beautifully this springtime.

"No, young gentlemen, don't be rabbis at a wailing wall, crying for their people. Don't be too cosmic; don't carry the whole Jewish people on your shoulders. You have enough to do to look after me, Zilch, the Average Member.

"I have my troubles. I have my conflicts. I seek the good way of life and I should welcome a rabbi who can show me the way. I am a poor stumbler who is always falling and the rabbi should be the gentle friend who picks me up and sets my feet right again.

"You can't serve me, Zilch, when your eyes are directed to the farthest reaches of Jewry even unto Abyssinia. Teach me—the immediate Jew under your nose—the way to the good life, what I, myself, should do about living in this world.

"I advise you to take counsel from the sermon topics of Christian ministers. They don't pretend a wisdom that takes in the affairs of the whole world; they are concerned only with the Zilches in their congregations and their sermons have to do with making a better, more spiritual man out of every Zilch.

That's all the Jewish Zilches require of you. They stay away from the synagogues where rabbis compound the inky darkness that is already upon the world. They might be grateful to the rabbi who provides them with a bit of light for their own feet. It's hard going at any time but especially in a darkness like this.

"And, for goodness' sake, don't, in your sermons, play at being statesmen who can solve all the problems of the world, or try to be political or war experts. The regular, hired, professional statesmen have been doing the job badly enough and God save us from the amateurs. And an amateur war expert can't do any better than the professionals who have been wrong most of the time.

"Anyway, a rabbi who takes up being a statesman or war expert suggests that he is rather empty in his rabbinical function which has to do primarily with showing people the way to go in their own lives and as members of the social community. There is so much for rabbis to do in this little corner called Jewish life; the world somehow can manage to keep on swinging in its orbit without their aid and counsel.

"Yes, that's what Zilch thinks about it."

TRANSIT FIRM ASKS PATRONS TO "MOVE BACK"

Indianapolis Railways has launched a campaign, via special car cards in its vehicles, asking patrons to aid in making more room available for defense workers and vital employees by "Moving to the Rear" when boarding the street cars, trackless trolleys and motor coaches in the local system.

The transit firm points out that quite frequently, especially during the rush hours, much valuable and needed space in the rear portion of its vehicles is unused because patrons, when boarding, overlook the necessity of moving more evenly loaded and tight to the rear.

The war emergency, which has brought an influx of several thousand additional passengers each day to the Indianapolis system, has made it necessary, as a patriotic measure, that every bit of available space on the trolleys and buses be used. This space is needed by defense workers in order that they may reach their jobs on time. When vehicles are crowded at the front, defense workers must frequently be passed up.

The comfort of transit patrons is improved when they move to the rear because the vehicle is more evenly loaded and tight crowding at the front is avoided. Because adequate local transportation is vital to the war emergency, Indianapolis Railways asks co-operation in making the most efficient use possible of the vehicles available for use in this city.

REYNOLDS AND VIERECK CONNECTED

THE HOUR CHARGES U. S. SENATOR WITH AIDING NAZIS

(Reprinted from The Hour)

NEW YORK—The Hour is reliably informed that Senator Robert H. Reynolds, chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee, was a key member of three mysterious committees formed in Congress under the supervision and with the financial aid of George Sylvester Viereck, the paid Nazi agent who was sentenced on March 13 to a term of 2-6 years imprisonment for improper registration as a foreign agent. The names of these committees, which were set up prior to the entry of the United States into the war, were Make Europe Pay War Debts Committee, War Debts Defense Committee, and Islands for War Debts Committee.

Consisting chiefly of the same few hand-picked senators and congressmen, each of the committees concentrated on spreading propaganda promoting the isolationist cause and attacking the defense program of the Administration. The Third Reich regarded this propaganda work as being important enough to merit considerable financial support, and Hitler's hiring Viereck transmitted large Nazi funds to the committees. As a matter of fact, Viereck is to be credited with actually organizing the committees. It was under his shrewd guidance that Senator Ernest Lundeen—whose appeasement speeches Viereck was writing at the time—became chairman of the committees; and Prescott Dennett, notorious Axis propagandist and Viereck's errand boy in Washington, served as treasurer. One of the U. S. Government charges on the basis of which Viereck was sentenced to prison was that he had failed to inform the U. S. State Department of his having,

"Advised, consulted and informed, directly and indirectly one Prescott Dennett and divers other persons in matters pertaining to political interests, public relations and public policy by aiding, abetting and assisting the said Prescott Dennett and divers other persons in the operation and work of certain committees known as and by the name and style of 'Make Europe Pay War Debts Committee,' 'Islands For War Debts Committee' and 'War Debts Defense Committee,' and by contributing large sums of money for the maintenance of and to defray the expenses of the said committees..."

The small and highly confidential lists of the members of these committees have never been made public, but The Hour is now able to reveal that Senator Robert R. Reynolds was one of the charter members.

In the light of his membership in these Viereck-sponsored propaganda groups, Reynolds' current activities assume a sinister significance.

Reynolds' Role Today

On April 18 The Hour disclosed that the ruddy-faced senator from North Carolina is actively sponsoring the seditious propaganda efforts of Gerald L. K. Smith, ex-Silver Shirts No. 3223. We reported that Smith, who once boasted of having formed "the first Silver Shirt storm-troop in America," is now distributing the reproduction of a letter he recently received from Senator Reynolds—a letter in which the Senator congratulates the Detroit fifth columnist on his latest subversive publication, "The Cross and the Flag." (We also reported that Smith had received similar expressions of approval from Senator Gerald P. Nye of North Dakota and Representative Roy O. Woodruff of Michigan.)

On April 23 the New York "Herald Tribune" carried a front-page story headlined, "New Gerald Smith Paper Gets Reynolds and Nye Indorsement," confirming our expose and further revealing that Senators Reynolds and Nye had in fact given Smith permission to incorporate some of their writings into his seditious sheet. Later, an Associated Press dispatch from Washington reported that Reynolds and Nye, when questioned, had admitted their indorsements of "The Cross and the Flag." The dispatch quoted Reynolds as saying: "I have no apologies to offer for indorsing the program of any individual or group standing for the things I have stood for for many years. I would do the same thing if it were John Jones or Henry Smith."

What Reynolds Stands For

When Senator Reynolds says he stands for the things that Gerald Smith stands for, he is not exaggerating. It was with good reason that the Nazi-gangster Fritz Kuhn, while still Fuehrer of the German-American Bund, declared on May 6, 1939, after a speech given by Senator Reynolds at the Hotel Astor in New York City: "I liked the speech very well. I would underline everything he says." (See New York "Times," May 7, 1939.)

Senator Reynolds has received similar praise from every corner of the fifth column underworld. William Dudley Pelley who was sentenced in January to three years in jail, consistently devoted large sections of his pro-Nazi publication, "Liberation," to lauding Reynolds' anti-democratic views; and it was the proud assertion of the head of the Silver Shirts that Reynolds "espouses a duplication of Pelley's movement." Early in 1940, the Christian Front, following the example of its pro-Axis boss Father Coughlin, gave a blanket indorsement to the program of the North Carolinian Senator (see "The Hour" for Feb. 3, 1940). The American Nationalist Confederation, whose stationery was appropriated marked with a swastika, kept at its headquarters a liberal supply of Senator Reynolds' official envelopes, in which reprints of his speeches were regularly mailed out. George Death-erage, the Naziphile who was recently fired from a naval project at Norfolk, Virginia, carried on a friendly correspondence with Reynolds and openly expressed his complete sympathy with the Senator's aims. Edward James Smythe, John Cecil, Cathrine Curtis, John B. Trevor, Joseph E. McWilliams—these and dozens more of America's motley crew of petty-fuehrers have been warm admirers of "Our Bob," as they fondly call him, and have not infrequently entered into close collaboration with him.

There is not a living American traitor worth mentioning who has not indorsed the present chairman of the Senate Military Affairs Committee.

Of course, Senator Reynolds is quite a distinguished Fuehrer himself. As founder and leader of the American Vindicators, a fascist vigilante organization which specializes in labor—and alien-baiting, he has been publishing since April, 1939, a violently anti-democratic, anti-Semitic monthly called "The American Vindicator." The Nazi character of Reynolds' band is indicated in this extract from a letter written by its National Secretary to a prospective organizer: "There are absolutely no Jews attached to the membership of this organization."

Aiding the Nazis

On February 5, 1939, Adolph Hitler's official newspaper, the "Volkischer Beobachter," featured a story carrying the by-line "Senator Robert R. Reynolds, North Carolina." The piece, which was in the form of an interview given by the Senator, was entitled, "Advice to Roosevelt; Stick to Your Knitting." The interview bore a Washington dateline but, interestingly enough, the only paper in the United States which published the item was the "Deutsche Weckruf und Beobachter," organ of the German-American Bund.

It has been a custom of long standing for the Axis to give Senator Reynolds favorable publicity, and for him to reciprocate by doing the same for them. In the above mentioned interview he declared with obvious satisfaction: "There was a time when John Bull needed only to say 'Booh' to set the whole world afright but that time is gone forever. Hitler and Mussolini have brought John Bull down on his knees..."

On the floor of the United States Senate, the Honorable Robert Reynolds has frequently made such remarks as, "Hitler and Mussolini have a date with Destiny. It's foolish to oppose them, so why not play ball with them?"

When the Senator visited the Third Reich in 1938, he was most enthusiastically welcomed by high Nazi officials; and when he returned to this country, he spoke in glowing terms of Germany and Italy, describing them as lands of prosperity and happiness. Concerning the invasion of Czechoslovakia, he casually remarked: "Hitler went over and took land in the way that sometimes the boys in Texas and North Carolina used to move a fence with the aid of a shotgun, instead of doing it legally by the way of a surveyor—that's all Hitler did."

And when it came to a question of fighting Axis aggression, Senator Reynolds declared, "I can see no reason why the youth of this country should be uniformed to save the so-called democracies of Europe—imperialistic Britain and communistic France," and, parroting Nazi propaganda still more obviously, "I am glad to be able to state without the least hesitation that I am absolutely against the United States waging war for the purpose of protecting the Jews anywhere in the world." (International News Service, February 3, 1939.)

The United States is at war, and yet Senator Robert Reynolds continues to aid such enemies within as Gerald L. K. Smith, whose seditious propaganda aims at sabotaging the nation's war effort and assisting the Axis foe.

Hitler, Hirohito and Mussolini have reason to be well satisfied with the present chairman of the Military Affairs Committee of the United States Senate.

WAR HONOR ROLL

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Moldafsky, St. Louis.

LT. STEPHEN SALZMAN, Wilmington, Del., awarded the Silver Star for bravery under fire at Pearl Harbor. Saltzman was on duty at Schofield Barracks when Japs attacked on Dec. 7. In company with a sergeant he rushed to his post, crossing an open field. A Jap plane swooped low in an attempt to strafe the field. Saltzman and the sergeant began firing at the plane with their rifles. (Saltzman's civilian hobby was duckhunting.) With deadly accuracy, Saltzman's rifle brought down the enemy plane, whose pilot had been killed by one of its bullets.

Saltzman has been in the army about a year and a half. Formerly an advertising writer, he received his commission as a result of ROTC training.

$50,000 for one 90-millimeter anti-aircraft gun sounds like a lot of money, doesn't it? But this type gun is a real "plane-crasher"—one shell from it can smash a half-million-dollar Jap bomber quicker than you can sweat a fly.

THIS ANTI-AIRCRAFT GUN COSTS $50,000

YOUR HOUSE may not be a military target, but bombs don't stop to inquire. Bombs don't ask your name or the names of your children, either. In this war, as in no other in history, we are all targets. Blackouts merge soldiers and civilians alike. "War is hell" . . . for all of us. And it is costly . . . for all of us.

Take the anti-aircraft guns that must be counted on to protect your home, your family. Did you know that just one costs $50,000? Just one—and we need 20,000 at once . . . for the fighting front as well as the home front.

Who's going to pay the bill? Not only for the guns but for the tanks and ships and planes our boys must have to smash the Axis?

Who? Why, all of us . . . you and me and the man next door. Because we are all in this war, and because blood and tears and sweat don't mean a thing if they do not come from everybody. Everybody must put every dime and dollar he can spare into Bonds and Stamps, even if it means going without something else . . . remembering that we are apt to go without everything, unless we win. Here is one sure way to turn your patriotism into action and help win this war—go to your local bank, post office, or other official agency for Bonds now!

Remember you can start buying Bonds by buying Stamps for as little as 10 cents and that you get a $25 Bond (maturity value) for only $18.75.
